

Income declaration – for financial years up to and including 2008-2009 (CS1668(1))

When to use this form

Use this form to provide an income declaration (only for financial years up to and including 2008-2009) if your taxable income has not yet been assessed by the Australian Taxation Office (ATO).

A financial year begins on 1 July and ends on 30 June the following year. For example, 1 July 2008 to 30 June 2009.

Important information

When you lodge your tax return, we may replace your income declaration with your taxable income and amend your child support. The best way to ensure your child support is correct is to lodge your tax return on time every year. If you lodge your tax return late we may not be able to backdate any changes to your child support assessment.

If you are not required to lodge a tax return, complete and return this form to us as soon as possible.

We use your adjusted taxable income or your child support income to calculate your child support assessment.

- Adjusted taxable income is the total of your taxable income, plus other income components such as reportable fringe benefits, target foreign income, net rental property loss and some tax free pensions or benefits.
- Child support income is the total of your taxable income, plus net rental property loss, reportable fringe benefits and exempt foreign income. The type of income used depends on which financial year you are providing details for.

Online account

You can access your Child Support online account through myGov. myGov is a secure way to access a range of government services online with one username and password. You can create a myGov account at my.gov.au and link Child Support to it.

12 Read this before answering the following question.

Gross income includes gross income from wages before tax, taxable pension/benefits, business income, rental income, investment income, net capital gains and eligible terminations payments. Include any other assessable income that would be included in your tax return.

Allowable tax deductions must be recognised by the ATO (for example, work related expenses, business expenses, rental property expenses, financial investment expenses).

Net rental property loss occurs if your total rental expenses exceed your gross rental income.

Reportable fringe benefits includes benefits received as part of earned income but not as a wage or salary (for example, novated lease, use of a car as part of a salary package).

Target foreign income includes any foreign income exempt from tax, less any losses or outgoings incurred in deriving that income.

Total tax free pensions and benefits – Not all tax free pensions and benefits need to be included as adjusted taxable income. The following examples are to be included as they may be considered for child support purposes: disability support pensions, JobSeeker Payment, Carer Payment, invalidity service pensions, partner service pensions, income support supplements and Defence Force Income Support Allowances.
