

When to use this form

Use this form to apply to have additional income excluded from your child support assessment.

Additional income you have earned after you separated from the child(ren)'s other parent may be excluded from your adjusted taxable income.

This must be income you have earned in addition to income you earned before your separation (for example it does not include income from a second job you had before separation, overtime if you were already doing overtime before separation, or standard pay rises).

Your adjusted taxable income can only be reduced by a maximum of 30% and is limited to 3 years after your separation. You must also have lived with your child(ren)'s other parent for at least 6 months before you separated.

We will contact the other parent to discuss your application. You may be required to provide evidence to support this application.

Online account

You can access your Child Support online account through myGov. myGov is a secure way to access a range of government services online with one username and password. You can create a myGov account at my.gov.au and link Child Support to it.
