

Separated parents

Help with child support arrangements

Child support helps with the cost of raising children when parents aren't in a relationship.

Services Australia can help you:

- ✓ apply for a child support assessment
- ✓ choose if you would like us to collect and transfer the payments or have payments made directly between parents or carers
- ✓ manage your child support assessment.

Support if your safety is at risk

If applying for child support may put you or your family at risk, call the Centrelink families line on 136 150 and ask to speak to a social worker. They can help discuss your options, including exemptions from applying for child support.

For family and domestic violence support, call 1800RESPECT on 1800 737 732.

For more information, call the Child Support enquiry line on 131 272 or go to servicessaustralia.gov.au/childsupport