

Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment Secondary Victim

(for a person 16 years and over)
April 2019 Sri Lanka attacks

Purpose of this form

The Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment provides financial assistance to Australian residents who are a close family member of a person who died as a direct result of the April 2019 Sri Lanka terrorist act.

Who is eligible for assistance?

A secondary victim may be eligible for the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment where:

- the person was an Australian resident (as defined in the Social Security Act 1991) at the time of the terrorist act; and living in Australia, and
- the person and their close family members were not involved in the commission of the terrorist act, and
- the person is a close family member of a deceased person who:
 - was in the place where the terrorist act occurred, and
 - died within 2 years of, and as a direct result of the terrorist act.

The principles issued under the legislation set out what share of the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment is to be paid to close family members in the event that more than one close family member makes a claim. For more information, see Definition of key terms – Close Family Member in the Notes (page 4).

How much will be paid?

Payment up to $75,000 may be shared among eligible close family members.

What factors are taken into account when determining the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment?

The following factors may be taken into account when determining a secondary victim claim:

- whether there are other persons who have made a claim for an Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment as a secondary victim in relation to the close family member, and
- whether the person has made a claim as a secondary victim of the terrorist act in relation to another close family member, and
- if the close family member was 16 years and over:
 - whether the close family member failed to take reasonable steps to avoid harm or acted recklessly when the terrorist act occurred, and
 - whether there was travel advice on an Australian Government website advising against travelling to the foreign country, region or place where the terrorist act occurred, and
 - whether the close family member was directed by an official of Australia or a foreign country to leave or not go to the place where the terrorist act occurred, and
 - whether the close family member was in the place where the terrorist act occurred:
 - for a humanitarian purpose, or
 - on official business for the government of the Commonwealth, a state or territory, and
- whether the person, other secondary victims or the close family member has received financial assistance from a foreign country, and
- whether the close family member received an Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment as a primary victim.

Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment Secondary Victim – for a person 16 years and over April 2019 Sri Lanka attacks

How long do I have to claim?

To receive the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment:

- the close family member must have died within 2 years from the date of the terrorist act, and
- you must lodge your claim within 12 months of the date of the death of the close family member who has died as a direct result of the declared overseas terrorist act.

For details of closing dates, go to servicesaustralia.gov.au/disaster

How will payments be made?

Payments will be made to a bank, building society or credit union account held in your name. A joint account is acceptable. If you do not have an account, please contact Services Australia on 1800 040 226 about alternative arrangements. If you are outside Australia, call (+61 3) 9250 5159.

What else will I need to provide?

Definition of key terms Close Family Member

The following are a person's close family member:

- the person's partner
- the person's child
- the person's parent (including legal guardian – see below for definition)
- the person's sibling.

Legal Guardian

Section 4 of the Family Law Act 1975 provides:

- Guardian, includes a person who has been granted (whether alone or jointly with another person or persons) guardianship of the child under the law of the Commonwealth or of a state or territory.

The principles issued under the legislation set out what share of the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment is to be paid to close family members in the event that more than one close family member makes a claim:

- if the deceased person's partner and/or children claim, they may share the payment
- if no partner or child claims, parents may share the payment
- if no partner, child or parent claims, siblings may share the payment.

The following table shows how the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment is apportioned:

Apportioning payments among secondary victims

Where the secondary victim claimants are:	The portion of total Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment payable is:
A partner, and no child has made a claim	Partner: 100%
A partner, and a child or children	Partner: 50% Child or children: 50%, shared equally among the children if more than one child
A child or children, and no partner has made a claim	100%, shared equally among the children if more than one child
A parent or parents, and no partner or child has made a claim	100%, shared equally among the parents if more than one parent
A sibling or siblings, and no partner, parent or child has made a claim	100%, shared equally among the siblings if more than one sibling

For a set of scenarios showing how Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment is apportioned for each of the above close family member relationships, go to servicessaustralia.gov.au/disaster

Direct Result (Died)

For the purposes of the assessment of Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment claims, the following elements are to be considered when assessing whether a person died as a direct result:

- the person was killed by the terrorist act, or
- the person's death would not have occurred but for the terrorist act including:
 - being unable to seek medical attention due to the terrorist act, or
 - the terrorist act aggravated an existing condition which caused death
- on the balance of probability, their death resulted from the terrorist act, or
- the person went missing following the terrorist act and is presumed dead as a direct result of the terrorist act.

Financial Assistance

For the purposes of the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment, financial assistance refers to:

- the amount of any financial assistance received from a foreign country for the death of the deceased person (other than financial assistance for economic loss resulting from the deceased person's death) by:
 - the secondary victim, or
 - any other person who has made a claim as a secondary victim in relation to the deceased person and who is entitled to a share
- the amount of any financial assistance received from a foreign country by the deceased person for injuries suffered by the deceased person as a direct result of the terrorist act (other than financial assistance for economic loss resulting from the injury), or
- the amount of any Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment received by the deceased person as a primary victim.

In the place

For the purposes of this payment, 'in the place where the declared overseas terrorist act occurred' means:

- in close proximity to the place where the terrorist act occurred, and
- witnessed the terrorist act first hand.

A person is in close proximity to the place where the terrorist act occurred if they were close enough to be physically injured or killed by that act.

Witnessing the terrorist act first hand means being present, and personally seeing or perceiving the terrorist act direct from the original source.

People who went to the place where the terrorist act occurred immediately following the act to assist victims are considered to be 'in the place' for the purposes of Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment. This would include arriving at the scene of the act before the victim was moved to another location.

Being 'in the place' would not include witnessing or participating in events that might follow a declared overseas terrorist act, such as (but not limited to):

- travelling to the place to locate close family members or others, or
- seeing debris and property damage resulting from the terrorist act, or
- providing first response services in an official capacity, or
- dealing with the police, medical authorities or Australian Embassy or Consular officials.

Involved in the commission of the terrorist act

For the purposes of the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment, a person was involved in the commission of the terrorist act if the person:

- aided, abetted, counselled or procured the terrorist act, or
- induced the terrorist act, whether through threats or promises, or otherwise, or
- was in any way (directly or indirectly) knowingly concerned in, or a party to, the terrorist act, or
- conspired with others to effect the terrorist act.

Terrorist Act

For the purposes of the Australian Victim of Terrorism Overseas Payment, the terrorist act refers to the overseas terrorist acts declared by the Prime Minister of Australia.
