Family and domestic violence. It's time to say enough.

Family and domestic violence is not acceptable.

Family and domestic violence is behaviour that can cause a person to be fearful.

It can be:

- physical, verbal, emotional, sexual or psychological abuse
- neglect
- financial abuse
- stalking
- control of someone
- harm to a person, animal or property
- stopping spiritual or cultural participation, and
- exposing children to these behaviours.

All people can experience family and domestic violence. It can happen in all types of relationships including:

- past or current relationships, it doesn't matter the gender or sexuality
- relatives and guardians
- carers of older people, people with disability or a medical condition, and
- culturally recognised family groups.

People affected by family and domestic violence may live in fear for themselves and their family. This can happen even when they've left a violent relationship.

Support

If you or someone you know is affected, we can connect you to services in the community, including specialists, emergency accommodation, housing and legal assistance.

We can also check if you are eligible for our payments and services, including:

- income support payments
- Crisis Payment
- exemptions from seeking employment
- collecting child support
- social work services.

We have free interpreters and translators. To speak to us in your language:

- call 131 202 about Centrelink payments and services, or
- the Translating and Interpreting Service (TIS National) on 131 450 about
- Medicare and Child Support payments and services.

You can also go to humanservices.gov.au/enough or visit a service centre.

More information

A Family Safety Pack is available in English and in a range of languages. It has information about Australia's laws regarding family and domestic violence, sexual assault, forced marriage and partner visas. Go to dss.gov.au/familysafetypack

There are also a range of community support services available, including:

- 1800RESPECT

Call 1800 737 732—interpreting services are available—or go to 1800RESPECT.org.au
