

Social Security Agreement between Australia and Italy

Australia's social security system

Australia's social security system is different to most other developed countries. Each person's pension is paid by the Australian Government out of general funds, rather than through contributions paid by individuals and employers into a social insurance fund. For this reason, Australian pensions are income and asset tested.

Services Australia delivers Australian social security payments to individuals.

You'll have to tell us about all of your, and in some instances, your partner's¹ income and assets if you want to claim an Australian pension.

How does the agreement help you?

The agreement generally allows you to lodge a claim for payment from either country. It also allows you to add together your periods of residence in Australia and periods of social security coverage in Italy, so you can meet the minimum requirements for payment.

Who can get an Australian payment?

If you live in Australia, Italy or another specified agreement country⁵, you can lodge a claim for the Australian Age Pension, Disability Support Pension and Parenting Payment in any of those countries.

To qualify under the agreement, you need to meet the following basic requirements*:

Age Pension

You may be able to get Age Pension if:

- you're over the qualifying age (refer to servicessaustralia.gov.au for details), and
- the total period of time you've lived in Australia and/or your periods of coverage in Italy adds up to more than 10 years.

Disability Support Pension

You may be able to get Disability Support Pension if:

- you have a disability, or
- you're permanently blind, and
- your disability/blindness occurred while you were living in Australia, or
- the total period of time you've lived in Australia and/or your periods of coverage in Italy add up to more than 10 years.

Parenting Payment

You may be able to get Parenting Payment if:

- your partner is deceased, and

- you're caring for one or more children under 8 years of age who've been to Australia before, and
- the total period of time you've lived in Australia and/or your periods of coverage in Italy add up to more than 2 years.

Note: if you live outside Australia when you claim, you generally need at least 12 months Australian Working Life Residence², of which 6 months must be continuous.

* There may be additional requirements you need to meet before you can be paid.

Who can get an Italian payment?

Under the agreement, you can add periods of Australian Working Life Residence² to your periods of coverage in Italy to meet the minimum requirement for the Italian Age Pension, Invalidity Pension, Seniority Pension, family allowances and Survivor Pension.

The Italian pension authorities make all decisions about Italian payments. For more information about Italian payments, you should contact the Italian pension authorities³.

Disclaimer

The information contained in this publication is intended only as a guide to payments and services available.

The information in this factsheet is accurate as at April 2020. If you use this publication after that date, please check with us that the details are up to date.

Should I lodge a claim?

We can't be sure if you'll get a payment, until you lodge a claim and your circumstances are taken into account. It's your responsibility to decide whether you lodge a claim for payment or not.

From what date are the payments available?

Most government payments are paid from, or after the date on which the application is made so the sooner you lodge your application, the quicker you may be paid.

For Australian payments, you must lodge your claim and all supporting documents at the same time. If you don't your claim may not be accepted.

What do you need to do when dealing with a third party?

You may deal with a third party who's not a member of our staff. If you do, please remember that we haven't authorised any third parties to provide information or advice to you about payments.
