

Tasmanian Freight Equalisation Scheme Manufacturers' and Miners' application to register southbound goods (TAS025)

About the Tasmanian Freight Equalisation Scheme

The Tasmanian Freight Equalisation Scheme (TFES) provides freight assistance to eligible businesses who transport eligible goods by sea across Bass Strait.

When to use this form

Use this form if you are an approved manufacturer or miner and wish to register southbound goods for the Tasmanian Freight Equalisation Scheme.

How to register for the TFES

To be an eligible business you must register with the TFES and have your eligibility confirmed by Services Australia. To register you must complete the Registration and change of details (TAS020) form and submit this before lodging your first claim. If you do not have this form, go to servicesaustralia.gov.au/forms

Eligible southbound goods

To be eligible for assistance the goods must be:

- raw materials or equipment used in your manufacturing or mining processes
- registered with Services Australia before claims are lodged.

Domestic goods

Domestic goods are goods manufactured on the mainland of Australia, including any goods that have undergone a manufacturing process on the mainland before they are shipped to Tasmania.

Imported goods

Imported goods are goods that are imported from overseas, shipped to Tasmania from a mainland Australian port and have no Australian equivalent. Freight assistance for imported goods can be claimed if they were shipped from the mainland to Tasmania on or after 1 July 2021.

Rates of assistance

Domestic goods – maximum $855 per twenty-foot equivalent unit (TEU)

Imported goods – flat rate $700 per TEU

Imported goods shipped from the mainland of Australia to either King Island or the Furneaux Group – flat rate $805 per TEU
